

Medical Disclaimer

Guideforcouples.com hereinafter referred as "Family Guide" is designed, developed, updated, owned and launched by "Medico Excellence" hereinafter referred as "Company".

Contents of this "Family Guide" viewed from website or Apps are available only to registered subscribers on agreeing the Terms and Conditions available on 'Subscribe' page of this "Family Guide".

Contents of this "Family Guide" are not designed to make diagnoses, administer treatment, prescribe medications, recommend treatment options or advice medical tests.

The information is provided in the "Family Guide" is an educational service, which can help you and your spouse to understand each other better and make your marriage a long-term loving relationship.

This information will also be beneficial to teenagers, parents of adolescent child, doctors, counsellors and psychologists.

The content of this website should not be used as substitute for advice, diagnosis or treatment recommended by Medical Professionals or Qualified Counsellors.

Do not disregard your doctor's advice or delay seeking their advice, because of any content in the website. The relevance of the content may differ in different situations.

Subscribers are advised to take help of their family doctor or gynecologist for better understanding of any topic.

This "Family Guide" is designed to enable our subscribers to get acquainted to topic of sex and relationship sufficiently, so that they can ask specific questions related to their issues when they visit their doctor.

'Company' does not take any responsibility whatsoever for any unintended harm caused to any person whosoever, directly or indirectly.

We respect beliefs of every religion across the globe, hence we have limited our information to medical, emotional, psychological and legal perspective and do not intend to question, challenge or demean anyone's belief.

All photographs in this "Family Guide" are licensed through '123rf.com' or other authorized sources. The inclusion of these photographs is to make the topic interesting to read. The models in the photographs have no relevance to contents of the topic whatsoever.

All matters, disputes related to our domain familyguideforsex.com or all its sub-domains shall be subject to jurisdiction of Bombay High Court, Mumbai, India.